EICL 2012 CALL FOR PAPERS

International Conference E- Internationalization for Collaborative Learning – EICL

October 1st- 2nd, Crimea, Ukraine

World is moving quickly to realize the advantages of global e-collaboration. Mass interconnectivity paradigm will dramatically change workplaces, processes and institutions. Agile learning networks are becoming the key success factor for delivering value. International e-mobility transforms common understanding of how the quality of higher education is achieved and opens a window of opportunity.

This interdisciplinary conference brings together administration, didactics, and technology with the aim of making higher education international. Best practices, trends and challenges of using modern web 2.0 collaborative tools in higher education will be discussed. Research and project results can contribute to the conference as well as case studies and practical insights.

International Conference EICL is organized in the frame of the Tempus project E-Internationalization for Collaborative Learning (funded by the European Commission).
