This article has been retracted by the iJET editorial team, because there was a suspicion that the article has been associated with fraudulent publication practices.
The iJET editorial team was initially informed about this fact by Dr. Perron (University of Michigan) and his team on 08/03/2021.
Based on the evidence provided by Dr. Perron and his team, and the fact that the authors didn't answer our request for a statement, the iJET editorial team finally decided to retract the paper.
By now, the authors have been able to credibly assure us that the suspicion proved to be unfounded.
The authors are now preparing an updated and revised version of the paper.
