

Online-Journals.org Publishing Agreement

1. License and Copyright

Articles in this journal are published under the Creative Commons Attribution License (CC-BY 4.0).

2. Author Warranties

The author warrants that all the following points are true:

- a) The author is the sole copyright owner or has been authorized by other copyright holders to grant the rights specified in point 1.
- b) The manuscript does not infringe any intellectual property rights or other third-party rights.
- c) The manuscript or any version of it has not been previously published or licensed under a license that is incompatible with point 1.
- d) If the manuscript contains materials from other sources (e.g., illustrations, tables, data, text), they are correctly cited, and the author has obtained the necessary written permissions from the copyright holder and ensured that these permissions do not conflict with point 1.
- e) All facts contained in the manuscript are true and accurate according to the current state of research, as are all statements made by the author.
- f) The content of the manuscript is neither obscene nor defamatory, does not violate human rights or privacy rights, and is not otherwise in violation of applicable laws or contracts.
- g) Informed written consent for publication has been obtained from research participants.
- h) All institutional, governmental, or other approvals necessary for publication under the license in point 1 have been obtained.

3. Ethical Compliance

The author declares that they have read and understood the ethical guidelines and author guidelines and comply with them. Both guidelines are published on the journal website.

4. Conflict of Interest Disclosure

Authors must disclose any potential conflicts of interest, financial or otherwise, that may influence the research and publication.

5. Funding Acknowledgment

Authors must declare any financial support received for the research presented in the manuscript.

6. Retraction and Correction Policy

Should the publisher believe that the points mentioned in section 2 have been violated, the author authorizes the publisher/journal operator to take the necessary steps, such as corrections, retractions, or publication of statements related to the manuscript, etc.

7. Agreement and Signature

The signatory of this agreement has the authority to enter into this agreement on behalf of all authors of this manuscript.

Manuscript title at the time of submission

All authors' full names

Corresponding author's full name (only 1 author can be corresponding author)

Date of signature (dd/mm/yyyy)

Corresponding author's signature on behalf of all authors